

Teachers can apply for $100,000 in grants

Arizona teachers can apply for $100,000 in grants who have developed creative ways to use technology to improve learning.

Deadlines: December 16, 2009 and February 16, 2010

What: For the 5th year, the Qwest Foundation and the Arizona Technology in Education Alliance announced that the Qwest Foundation will provide $100,000 in grants for Arizona teachers who have developed creative ways to use technology to improve student learning.

Where/When: Recipients will be announced and grants awarded at the AzTEA Teaching and Technology Conference in Tucson at Empire High School on January, 23, 2010 and at the Microcomputers in Education Conference at Arizona State University in Tempe March 15-17, 2010.

Why: To recognize Arizona K-12 public-school teachers who are using technology in the classroom in new and innovative ways to improve student performance and to share this information so that others may do the same.

How: Applicants are asked to detail the goals of their project, as well as identify the hardware and software needed. Application information is available on AzTEA's Web site at <http://www.aztea.org/>

Source: <http://www.azcentral.com/>